

Walkers are rewarded with Tea & Cakes ..

A gentle start along the tow path.

Fluffy ducklings on the river.

Group photo as we pass through the woods.

A quick break to rehydrate.

The walking group meet regularly and last month the walk attracted 9 members. Some regular and some who had not been for some time (mentioning no names!).

The group shared cars to travel across and meet up in Harrington, just outside Northwich, parking at the Davenport Tea Rooms (by prior arrangement). They set off uncertain of the weather but the thought of a cup of tea and cake at the end of the walk overcame any concern of rain.

Making their way to the canal tow path the walkers took in the wonders nature had to offer; the various coloured blossoms, ducklings taking a swim, carpets of blue bells and wild garlic. It was just so nice to be out and catch up on each other's news.

Having reached the information board (now referred to as "an interpretation" board), the walkers headed down through the wood. A quick photo, then a brief stop at the Bluebell Cottage & Nursery, Dutton (a visit for another time), then onto the Locks that provided a perfect spot for a refreshment break. Rehydrated, the group continued along the bank of River Weaver to then loop back to the Tea Rooms.

The weather had been kind, the company great and what a super end to a great walk. Roll on the next one!

The walking group aim to meet once a month, the dates vary, as do the routes, so as to ensure they are available to as many members as possible.
